

PRESS RELEASE

Stockholm, Sweden, and Madrid, Spain 29 January 2004

Drutt Corporation and mCentric partner to offer Drutt Rendering as a component for mCentric's BlackWidow Service Delivery Platform

mCentric, a leading provider of Mobile Service Delivery Platforms and Drutt Corporation, the market leading provider of device management and content integration products for mobile data services, have partnered to allow customers to use Drutt's Rendering product as a fully integrated component of mCentric's BlackWidow Service Delivery Platform.

The inclusion of Drutt Rendering will ensure the optimal presentation of services for every device, complementing key features of the BlackWidow Service Delivery Platform such as its high performance execution environment, routing and charging abilities, statistics and reporting capability and streamlined administration interface.

Jonas Wilhelmsson, VP Marketing at Drutt Corporation, says "we see partnering our Rendering product with the BlackWidow Service Delivery Platform as an excellent way to offer customers the widest range of leading edge products to cover all of their mobile services needs. Working with mCentric provides an excellent opportunity to further position Drutt Corporation in the Spanish market."

According to mCentric CEO Kevin Daly, "we see partnering with Drutt as a great way to offer our customers a best-in-class rendering solution while we focus on our core business of providing a development platform and execution environment with all the core functionality for creating services ranging from downloads to messaging to communities and more."
